

Sending Love to Fairbanks Pioneer Home Elders

From the Fairbanks Pioneer Home Administrator:

"We have had great support from Rivendell Academy here in Fairbanks. The kids have been sending cards and drawings for the residents to enjoy. We have also been supported by Alaska Caring Notes. This is an initiative for children who are home from school to take time to write notes to residents in nursing and assisted living homes. They can upload a message to the Caring Notes website so they can be shared with elders. Here are some of the wonderful comments we have received – Angie Howard."

Hello friend,

I hope you are doing well. I am glad that spring is here. I play video games and hang out with my brother. Here is a joke that I think you may like:

Q: What do you call a cow eating grass? A: A lawn mooper!

Sincerely, Kainoa- Douglas, Alaska

Dear whoever gets this note,

Hello, I am Casey. I am 11. I know that it has been a hard time with the quarantine so I wrote this so you know that you are not alone and we all care for you. Even though I don't know you but you are so inspiring, and caring, and helpful. You have been here for everyone. Your family members wish you were there, and they aren't able to be with you.

We love you all, love Casey.

Hello,

My name is Tyler and I'm from Juneau, Alaska. I do my homework every day because I have to. My P.E. homework is to go on a scavenger hunt and I'm going to ride my bike.

Hello,

I am a senior citizen here in California. My daughter told me about sending well wishes to the seniors in Alaska nursing and assisted living homes. I don't live in a nursing home, I live with her, but I want you all to know I care.

Sincerely,

Matilda Lavin

Hi,

I don't know if you have your family where you are but it must be really hard not to be able to get visitors. I am 11 years of age and am stuck with my mom, dad, sister, cat, and two dogs. My dad is in the military. I eat cereal for breakfast a lot. I like fruit and nerf guns.

Sincerely,

David - Anchorage, Alaska

Hi,

My name is Ethan. I am a sophomore at Eagle River High School in Eagle River Alaska. I am extremely grateful for everything that Alaska's doctors, nurses, and staff are doing for our senior citizens. Thank you!
